

Gregory Graham Ed.D. Professor Emeritus
California State University Los Angeles

Doctor Graham is an Emeritus professor, California State University Los Angeles and an author. His career experiences are in manufacturing education. He is currently retired, and continues to serve in many civic activities. He is a board member of Windmills International, and the High Desert Cultural Theater. Doctor Graham has lectured both nationally and internationally and continues to be involved in community activities. He has been a grant writer and has been successful with a number of national grants. Doctor Graham has published a number of Text Books and continues his affiliation with professional Societies.